The Demography and Economy of the San Luis Valley

Tuesday

July 19

10:30 a.m. – 1:30 p.m.

Alamosa County Service Center

8900 Independence Way

Alamosa

As part of a continuing series of educational and informational programs about this place we chose to live and work – the San Luis Valley – the San Luis Valley Council of Governments, through the San Luis Valley Development Resources Group, presents an educational session on the demography and economy of the region.

Anyone from area businesses, local government, education, and non-profit organizations is encouraged to attend.

Topics and Presenters:

People and Economy of the San Luis Valley

Rob Kemp, PhD., Demographer, Colorado State Demography Office

Dr. Kemp's presentation will cover demographics for the San Luis Valley looking at trends over the last decades in population, aging, ethnicity, areas of population decline; population forecasts for next 20 years; regional economic conditions – basic employment overview, outlook for job growth, in what sectors are job/economic growth likely.

Economic Impact Analysis and Regional Activity Tool for Alternative Irrigated Cropping in the San Luis Valley

Rebecca Hill, PhD, Colorado State University

Dr. Hill will discuss the recently completed economic impact analysis on reduced irrigated crop production and demonstrate the modeling tool used in the analysis.

Lunch will be served. Please RSVP to Hew Hallock at hhallock@slvdr.org or 589-6099 if you plan to attend.
